Forecast For Strathclyde
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Wednesday 13 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain and snow tonight. Drying up on Thursday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Cloudy with further outbreaks of rain, still the chance of snow to the north and east of Glasgow at times. Turning drier along the Argyll coast later. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Thursday:
Cloudy with occasional rain and hill snow gradually easing and dying out through the morning. Brightening along the Argyll coast in the afternoon. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Dry with some brightness on Friday. Rain and high ground snow spreading east on Saturday. Mainly dry on Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.